

Case Study #4 - Unique Skill Set

Let Your Data Grow[®]

- Challenge: We are often asked to program unique or non-standard output requiring a higher level of SAS programming skill.
- Solution: Stat One's owner and lead statistician's broad background and skillset including statistics, SAS programming, data management and software development, provides a unique view of tasks ahead.
- Result: Clients receive a solution to their problem and a deliverable provided in a timely manner while maximize efficiency and achieving resolution. Examples include customized subject profiles and graphic presentations of subject information.